

SYRACUSE, NEW YORK
POST-STANDARD

MORNING 99,075
SUNDAY 102,538

Russian Expert Attends Parley

Dr. Warren B. Walsh, chairman of the board of Russian studies at Syracuse University, is included among 27 civic leaders from New York, Connecticut and New Jersey who are attending the 14th annual Global Strategy discussions at the Naval War College, Newport, R.I.

Some 750 leaders in industry, finance, education, government and the armed forces are examining current problems now facing our nation in a series of round table discussions which opened Monday and will continue until Friday.

Guest speakers will include Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg; Adm. George W. Anderson, Jr., chief of Naval Operations; Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, deputy attorney general, and Lyman Kirkpatrick, executive director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

CPYRGHT